For example, solid ingredients are mixed with fillers, binders, disintegrants, lubricants, colorants, flavorants, sweeteners, or the like. The resultant mixture is then processed to produce tablets, pills, capsules, powders, granules, and the like. Liquid ingredients are further formulated to produce emulsions, solutions, syrups, and the like.

Such formulations are typically prepared using various combinations of equipment, such as, dissolvers, sifters, extruders, and the like. For example, solid ingredients are typically prepared in a dissolver, which is a high-speed mixer in which solid ingredients are ground and milled to a desired particle size. Dissolvers are used to convert powders and flakes into a fine, uniform powder for use in a manufacturing process. Typically, dissolvers are high speed, high energy blending machines used to prepare powders in a variety of industries, including the pharmaceutical industry. Dissolvers may be designed to produce a mixture of powders or flaked materials having the desired particle size. An example of a dissolver apparatus is disclosed in U.S. Pat. No. 6,241,115, the entire disclosure of which is incorporated by reference herein. The term “dissolver” as used herein refers to any apparatus that is capable of providing the mechanical agitation and shear required to disperse and pulverize a mixture of powders or flakes. In one embodiment, dissolvers are capable of processing batches of up to about 3,000 pounds. Dissolvers have a sieve or screen assembly at the bottom of a trough that supports the ingredients as they are ground. The sieve assembly may have a plurality of different sized holes 3da54e8ca3
