To compare the efficacy of oral methylprednisolone acetate (40 mg) given daily for 4 days with that of oral prednisolone (60 mg) given daily for 4 days in the treatment of active, severe idiopathic central serous chorioretinopathy. Randomized, prospective, therapeutic trial of oral methylprednisolone (40 mg) 4 times daily for 4 days and oral prednisolone (60 mg) 4 times daily for 4 days for the treatment of active, severe idiopathic central serous chorioretinopathy. Treatment was initiated with oral prednisolone (60 mg daily for 4 days) and randomized to methylprednisolone (40 mg 4 times daily for 4 days) at day 5. Each group had complete ophthalmologic follow-up at 2 and 6 weeks; and those randomized to methylprednisolone had a follow-up at 6 and 12 months. Twenty-five patients were randomized. Fifteen patients (60%) were cured at 12 months. Four patients (16%) maintained their visual acuity at 12 months on prednisolone (2 required no treatment). The other 11 patients (44%) lost at least 1 line of vision at 12 months on prednisolone, with 4 eventually receiving additional treatments.

All patients in the methylprednisolone group lost at least 1 line of vision by 6 months, necessitating additional treatment (4 patients, 16%). Oral methylprednisolone at 40 mg daily for 4 days is no more effective than oral prednisolone at 60 mg daily for 4 days in the treatment of active, severe idiopathic central serous chorioretinopathy. Although both drugs are tolerated by patients, treatment with oral methylprednisolone was associated with a greater incidence of systemic side effects than with oral prednisolone. What's up? Did you miss me? Like I missed you? No? Great! I thought so. Anyway, this post is just a slice of my work at my day job. I've been working with an interesting new client lately who's always excited to come in, be poked and prodded, and

Thank you so much for developing it. Charlotte This thing rocks. So does your voice. We do it all the time. Sue I am severely hearing impaired. Due to emotional stress I suffered a stroke. I now have dementia. I was very happy to find something on YouTube and watch your video. It meant so much to me. It was like I could hear again. I also loved the way you read to me. Thank you so much for helping me. Sandra I LOVE this and use it to read every paper, magazine, book, and ebook I can find. I bought one for the Ipad and use it all the time. Marilyn Great for reading books aloud, I got this one for my 3 year old daughter and I love it. He can read too, he learned to do that too. We're really happy with it. Hurt This is a great thing to have to screen out the garbage that seems to be in the air nowadays
