Oxford Jaa Atpl Cbt [UPDATED] Download

The Oxford Aviation ATPL Auto-Flight computer-based training course teaches the subject of automatic flight to the standard required by the EASA ATPL. This subject includes the use of various CNC instruments to control the aircraft, including the flight control system, flight control system, navigation system, computing system, safety control system, and environmental control system.

Documentation related to the use of all these systems is also included. The course consists of a series of video lectures and practical exercises. They will help cadets learn the principles of aircraft flight.
